CHAIR'S MESSAGE

It has been a privilege to serve as chair of such a great organization and to work with such an extraordinary group of people on the board, in the committees and on the staff, over the past two years. I am proud to be associated with AME BC and very much believe the Association is making a positive contribution to the health and prosperity of the mineral exploration and development industry in the province. I will be passing on the responsibility of Chair in January 2014 at our Annual General Meeting when both a new chair and a new executive committee of the Association will be named, and the newly elected and appointed directors for 2014 welcomed.

At Mineral Exploration Roundup 2013, it was my pleasure to be present for the launch of the Association's new Five Year Strategic Plan and Objectives for the years 2013-2017. The plan will reinforce and guide AME BC's work in six key areas, and AME BC's accomplishments to date are presented in this annual report (see AME BC's Priority Areas).

Of course, it has been a tough year for many of our member companies and individuals. Equity markets in North America for mineral exploration and mining companies remain very weak, and many companies have had to make some significant cuts in exploration programs and business activities just to stay alive. When this bear market will end is a popular topic of conversation at every gathering. And none of us really knows the answer – although there are some signs that 2014 will be better. Cycles are just that – there is a beginning and an end. The secret is to understand where we are in the cycle right now.

Over the past months we have seen significant write-downs of projects and investments by a number of major mining companies; capital projects put on hold; and exploration spending significantly reduced. That's a natural response when times are tough, and the result is that those same companies should be in a very good position to capitalize on opportunities when the market improves – which it will.

I had the good fortune to attend a set of meetings at the Vatican in Rome in September and then in Chicago at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwest University that were both held to discuss the "Mine of the Future." I was there on behalf of AME BC and was asked to represent the perspective of the junior mining sector. At these meetings were representatives of major mining companies, non-governmental organizations (such as Oxfam), faith-based groups, industry associations and academia. The purpose of this initiative was to try to define the essential elements of a modern and sustainable mining industry – one that operates in harmony with communities, provides economic opportunities and sustains healthy ecosystems.

These discussions covered a wide array of topics, and the perspectives of such a diverse group of people were a good reflection of how our industry interacts with many different people, organizations and cultures around the world. The perspective was global, with a significant focus on Africa and Latin America. Despite this, what struck me was just how many of the topics covered were relevant to what we are trying to do here in British Columbia and how our industry is a leader in so many areas. However, as is the case beyond our province as well, a number of challenges remain, many of them relating to gaining community acceptance of mining projects.

Our industry's efforts to promote a safe, environmentally sustainable mineral exploration and mining industry are always a work in progress, but I believe these efforts are making a difference. These discussions showed me that BC is advancing the state of practice in many of these areas; and although work remains, we are moving in the right direction.

I wish you and yours a good end to this year, and I hope you have a safe and prosperous 2014.

Yours truly,

Michael McPhie
Chair of the Board of Directors, AME BC
December 2013

Although most metal prices have remained at or near 10-year averages throughout 2013, many AME BC members, particularly the juniors, have continued in survival mode due to the historic and unprecedented downturn in the venture capital market. For many in the industry, the year 2013 will define their ability to build strategic partnerships; raise venture capital and private equity; enter into joint agreements; and successfully explore – not just here in BC – but anywhere in the world. These difficult times also present an opportunity for our members and for AME BC to step up even more as leaders and advocates for the mineral exploration and development sector in important public policy areas such as taxation, land access and security of tenure, permitting, and community and aboriginal engagement.

Given the ongoing challenge to raise venture capital and the global economic uncertainty, this is a critical time for AME BC to champion the investment, exploration and development potential of BC and to strengthen and reinforce strategic connections with government, business and industry leaders. Indeed, the BC-based mineral exploration and development industry must continuously work to seize global demand and compete for international investment. As such, this past summer, AME BC reinitiated discussions with the BC government about its tax policy, including relative tax competitiveness between jurisdictions. Since the BC mining exploration tax credit was first introduced in 2000, and the BC mining flow-through share tax credit was established in 2001, BC mineral exploration expenditures have grown from $32 million in 2001 to a record of $680 million in 2012. While the overall growth in expenditures is positive, most of those expenditures are occurring at advanced mineral and coal exploration and development projects, but not in grassroots exploration projects. Mineral exploration, especially work undertaken by junior companies, is the lifeblood of the mining industry. Sustained investment in grassroots exploration and geoscience is required to discover new deposits.

AME BC is also addressing the increasing cost of consultation with First Nations during all phases of exploration, even though it is the duty of the Crown to consult with First Nations. In fact, a recent sample study by Ernst & Young found that the weighted average of consultation costs borne by representative companies as a percentage of their total exploration expenditures in 2012 was estimated at over 21 per cent. This increasing cost of consultation is not currently defined as a qualifying expense under the BC Mining Exploration Tax Credit, unlike expenses incurred in the course of prospecting, carrying out geological surveys, trenching, digging test pits or preliminary sampling. Given this, AME BC has recommended that the BC government change the definition of qualifying expenses eligible under the mining exploration tax credit to include expenses incurred as a result of consultation with local and First Nations communities. Also, the BC mining flow-through share tax credit expires on December 31, 2013, and AME BC has recommended that the BC government extend this tax credit to December 31, 2016 and consider making it permanent to encourage exploration in British Columbia.

PRESIDENT & CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER'S MESSAGE

Aboriginal relations and engagement continue to form a top priority area for AME BC and, at time of writing, we are busy preparing to host another successful Aboriginal Engagement Forum and Gathering Place Pavilion at Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014. As well, the completion of AME BC's new Aboriginal Engagement Guidebook will be a key deliverable for our membership. Importantly, AME BC members should be aware that we intervened in the William v. British Columbia case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada in November 2013. Communications on this critical legal matter will reflect the industry's need for legislative and regulatory clarity, while recognizing the constitutionally enshrined rights of aboriginal peoples in Canada as well as our business reasons for recommending early and respectful engagement with aboriginal communities.

As we heard from the Hon. Bill Bennett, Minister of Energy and Mines, at the October 4 AME BC Speaker Series lunch, there is pressure from some communities in BC to amend the Mineral Tenure Act, which many do not realize was significantly amended in 2005 and again in July 2012. To help bring a more common understanding to this key issue, AME BC will be redoubling public relations and communications efforts to better explain the modern mineral tenure system and the lifecycle of mineral exploration and development in British Columbia.

Mineral Exploration Roundup 2013 attracted over 7,800 attendees from 44 countries. The Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014 conference, to be held January 27 to January 30, 2014, will be our 30th anniversary of Roundup. It is an opportunity to bid farewell to our long-time host, The Westin Bayshore, before we transition to our new home under the sails at Canada Place in 2015.

Financially, Roundup is the primary revenue generator for AME BC, and the Association continued to responsibly manage its overall expenditures over the past fiscal year as per the budget of 2012/13. I thank all staff and the Board for their efforts to serve the interests of the members as we help make AME BC a stronger association.

On behalf of the staff and board of AME BC, I thank the many hundreds of dedicated volunteers of AME BC. At this time, I also thank Michael McPhie, our outgoing chair, for his commitment and passion for the Association over the past two years.

I wish you all the very best in 2014 and that you have a safe day, everyday.

Best regards,

Gavin C. Dirom
President & CEO, AME BC
December 2013

AME BC's activities are guided by the Association's 2013-2017 Strategic Plan and Objectives. The plan, released at the Mineral Exploration Roundup conference in January 2013, was developed with the input from over 600 members, regional exploration groups, industry leaders, and the AME BC Board and management.

Building upon the Strategic Plan and Objectives, AME BC developed a Top Issues and Recommendations 2013 paper to facilitate focused and member-informed discussions with government and stakeholders.

Embracing a flexible, inclusive and progressive approach, AME BC will accomplish its mission by focusing on six key priority areas, as follows:

1. Successful exploration
2. Aboriginal relations and engagement
3. Public awareness and stakeholder education
4. Socially responsible exploration
5. Membership engagement
6. Mineral Exploration Roundup

SUCCESSFUL EXPLORATION

Key Goal: To facilitate successful mineral exploration and development in BC through advocacy, partnerships and leadership.

AME BC has a leadership role to play in advocacy regarding mineral policy development and the regulatory framework, as well as working with aboriginal communities, industry partners and stakeholders to address members' challenges to help facilitate successful mineral exploration and development work.

The year 2013 was challenging for AME BC members given the ongoing challenges of raising venture capital and the global economic uncertainty that affected the mineral exploration and development industry. However, it was a critical time for AME BC to champion the investment, exploration and development potential of BC and to strengthen and reinforce strategic connections with government, business and industry leaders.

AME BC committees key to advocating for successful exploration included the Land Use Committee, chaired by Scott Weston, and the Communications Committee, chaired by Stephanie Hun. AME BC also continued to participate in the BC Human Resource Task Force: Exploration, Mining, Stone, Sand & Gravel, chaired by David Bazowski.

AME BC's work to facilitate successful exploration included the following:

- Continuing to advocate for reform of BC's Notice of Work permitting and environmental assessment processes to bring more certainty, predictability and clarity to the mineral exploration and development sector. The provincial government launched a new online permit tracking system in 2013, and the federal government continued environmental assessment reform (CEAA 2012) through substitution agreements between federal and provincial governments.
- Lobbying for the protection of mineral tenures and on-line claim staking process and conveying the important principle of ensuring a fair market compensation process in the event mineral or coal tenures are expropriated or restricted.
- Advocating for the two-zone land use model across BC and in specific land use discussion areas such as the Muskwa-Kechika area.
- Facilitating AME BC's involvement and intervention with respect to the proposed Natural Resource Road Act in BC, the Yukon v. Ross River Dena case and the William v British Columbia case.
- Advocating for ongoing, long-term and stable investment in public geoscience (both BC Geological Survey and Geoscience BC funding).
- Facilitating the administration of the BC Mining HR Task Force and orchestrating AME BC's partnership with Northwest Community College to deliver their WEST program under a new Labour Market Agreement funded by the BC Government.
- Developing an executive report about the status of mineral land access and use in BC.
- Advocating for the BC government to change the definition of qualifying expenses eligible under the Mineral Exploration Tax Credit to include these expenses.
- Encouraging the government to renew the BC Mining Flow-Through Share tax credit through 2016, and to consider making it permanent.
- Commissioning a third party (Ernst & Young) tax incentive report for BC-based mineral explorers and developers, and participating in both provincial and federal budget consultation meetings.

The Association's advocacy efforts were also recognized with several announcements by the provincial government:

- The allocation of $7 million toward reducing permitting delays as announced at Mineral Exploration Roundup on January 28 and subsequent reduction of the turnaround time for Notices of Work for mineral exploration to 63 days.
- The exemption of low-impact activities from additional permitting announced in March, effective September 1, resulted in reduced unnecessary paperwork and delays for our members, for government and for First Nations. Induced polarization geophysical surveys, exploration drill programs on producing mines and extensions of proposed exploration work for up to two years are now allowed to proceed with notification to the provincial government.

Looking forward to 2014, AME BC will continue to work with governments at all levels to facilitate successful exploration through communication of key policy issues.

ABORIGINAL RELATIONS AND ENGAGEMENT

Understanding and meeting the requirements of aboriginal consultation and accommodation, as well as rights and title, represents a significant challenge for the mineral exploration and development industry in BC. AME BC plays a leadership role by providing its membership with guidance on how to engage with First Nations.

Key goals include

- To increase the capacity at AME BC to foster mutually respectful relationships with key aboriginal communities and associations to open dialogue about the impact and benefits of mineral exploration and development;
- To support the increased engagement, training and participation of aboriginal peoples in the industry; and
- To advocate for government to clarify and simplify their consultation and engagement requirements and responsibilities.

AME BC's initiatives in aboriginal engagement were led by the Aboriginal Relations Committee, chaired by Lana Eagle. Some of AME BC's initiatives during the year included the following:

- Hosting the first Gathering Place: Where Aboriginals and Industry Meet at Roundup 2013 in partnership with the BC Aboriginal Mine Training Association. This tent on the grounds of The Westin Bayshore during Roundup proved to be a successful venue for sharing success stories between aboriginal peoples and the mineral exploration community. This was also the venue for the signing of an Economic and Community Development Agreement between four Ktunaxa First Nation communities and the provincial government.
- Intervening along with fellow industry and business associations in the William vs. British Columbia case that was heard by the Supreme Court of Canada. This case will reflect the importance for legislative and regulatory clarity regarding aboriginal title while recognizing the constitutionally enshrined rights of aboriginal peoples.
- Developing the Aboriginal Engagement Guidebook for Mineral Explorers: A Practical and Principled Approach, to be launched at Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014.
- Building respectful and professional relations with leaders of First Nations regarding key mineral exploration and development issues of concern to members of AME BC (hosting 2nd annual Aboriginal Engagement Forum at Roundup).
- Improving mutual understanding between AME BC and the BC First Nation Energy and Mining Council; and building business-to-business relations with aboriginal organizations such as the Industry Council for Aboriginal Business.
- Advocating for increasing aboriginal capacity and training and successfully lobbying federal government for $10 million for the BC Aboriginal Mine Training Association as announced in August 2012.

PUBLIC AWARENESS AND STAKEHOLDER EDUCATION

Key Goal: To enhance the public's and stakeholders' understanding and support of mineral exploration and development through increased media, outreach and awareness and education.

Members of AME BC are challenged by the public's lack of understanding about the mineral exploration and development industry and the importance of coal, minerals and metals both to everyone's daily lives and the socio-economic benefits to regional and provincial economies and local communities.

AME BC has a mandate through its Strategic Plan to work with government, aboriginal communities and industry stakeholders, where relevant, to address these public misunderstandings and communicate about environmental stewardship, health and safety and the broader social and economic benefits derived from the industry.

During the year, AME BC continued to work with industry association partners, MineralsEd and regional exploration groups to educate the public and government. Highlights included the following:

- Co-hosting the Mining Week Community Fair with MineralsEd at the Creekside Community Centre in False Creek. Over 400 elementary school students and members of the public enjoyed the 30 exhibits that mixed interactive educational activities with fun.
- Partnering with the Boundary Mining Association, Chamber of Mines of Eastern BC, Kamloops Exploration Group, Prince George Exploration Group and Smithers Exploration Group in the third year of AME BC's regional outreach program to inform communities throughout BC on the role of mineral exploration in their daily lives. This initiative was led by the Communications Committee.
- Continuing to sponsor local government conferences and exhibit at the Union of BC Municipalities convention to inform elected officials about mineral exploration and development.
- Communicating regularly about BC's international mineral exploration and development business cluster. Highlights that were discussed included investment opportunities, the return of the majors to BC and the record year in 2012 of $680 million spent in mineral exploration and development in BC. The vast majority of these expenditures was at advanced metal and coal projects.
- Collaborating with the Coal Association of Canada, Mining Association of British Columbia and Mining Suppliers Association of British Columbia on a Vote Mining campaign that successfully ensured that mineral exploration and development were included in the messaging of the provincial Liberal, NDP, Conservative and Green campaigns in advance of the May 14, 2013 election.
- Supporting the development of a final design report for the Exploration Zone project at Britannia Mine Museum via AME BC's Outreach Education Fund.
- Partnering with REPClips to produce exploration-focused episodes for the second season of the television series Mining Your Future.
- Achieving record levels of published articles as well as earned media and social media coverage for AME BC in 2013.

AME BC's outreach efforts in 2014 will include a broad-based campaign to inform members of the public and government officials about how BC's Mineral Tenure Act provides access to land for responsible mineral exploration. It will also focus outreach programs on the concept of the mineral exploration life cycle, which identifies the stages of available land resources, prospecting and early exploration, intermediate exploration, advanced exploration, mineral development and reclamation. A working group composed of members from the Aboriginal Relations, Communications, Corporate Social Responsibility, and Land Use committees has spearheaded the development of the initial life cycle brochure.

SOCIALLY RESPONSIBLE EXPLORATION

Key Goal: To promote a culture of leadership in health and safety and corporate social responsibility among members of AME BC (including staff) and the BC-based mineral exploration and development sector.

Public expectations for socially responsible mineral exploration and development and the need to earn the social acceptance to operate are increasing. As the voice for mineral exploration and development in BC, AME BC promotes and advocates for a socially responsible mineral exploration and development practices by communicating the value and importance of socially responsible exploration. Lead committees in 2013 were the Corporate Social Responsibility Committee, chaired by Silvana Costa, and the Health & Safety Committee, chaired by Matthew Pickard.

During 2013, AME BC achieved the following:

- Hosting the Corporate Social Responsibility session at Mineral Exploration Roundup 2013, and making preparations for a session at Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014 entitled “Best Practices for Addressing Environmental Concerns and Impacts during Mineral Exploration – A Scalable Approach to Creating Value.”
- Developing Corporate Social Responsibility Guiding Principles, to be released at Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014.
- Hosting the 10th annual “Introduction to Exploration Safety” and 3rd annual “Exploration Safety for Project Managers” workshops.
- Conducting the eighth annual Canadian Mineral Exploration Health & Safety Survey in partnership with the Prospectors & Developers Association of Canada.
- Developing the fifth edition of Safety Guidelines for Mineral Exploration in Western Canada.
- Facilitating AME BC's participation in the Team Miracle Mine Rescue team for the annual BC Mine Rescue Competition to highlight safety awareness and raise support for BC Children's Hospital.
- Participating in the Teck Celebrity Pie Throw and the 2013 Mining for Miracles fundraising campaign for BC Children's Hospital.
- Partnering with UBC and SFU to lobby the federal government to establish the Canadian International Institute for Extractive Industries and Development in Vancouver with an initial $25 million fund from the Canadian International Development Agency (as announced in November 2012).

DID YOU KNOW?

AME BC and the PDAC awarded the Safe Day Everyday Award to 61 organizations for achieving a year without lost workday incidents in 2012.

MEMBERSHIP ENGAGEMENT

Key Goal: To understand, represent and serve the interests of AME BC members and to demonstrate value and benefits of membership in the Association

A thriving, growing and engaged membership is imperative to AME BC's success and operations. AME BC needs to ensure members are kept informed about industry updates, government regulatory and policy changes, and the Association's advocacy work on their behalf. The association is built on the strength of more than 100 years of fostering mutually beneficial relationships among members. The Membership Liaison Committee, chaired by Darrell Podowski, developed methods of engaging members and continued to administer the Honourable Service Roll. New roll inductees for 2014 were Morgen Andoff, Claire Thomson, Laurie Thomson and the late Peter DeLancey.

AME BC's special events provided opportunities for members to network.

During 2013, AME BC hosted the following events to engage members:

- Two sessions of the AME BC Speaker Series featuring Ned Goodman, President and CEO of the Dundee Corporation, to cap off the 2012/2013 AME BC Speaker Series and the Hon. Bill Bennett, Minister of Energy and Mines, to launch the 2013/2014 AME BC Speaker Series. The Speaker Series Committee was chaired by Grant Longhurst.
- The 21st Annual Charity Golf Tournament at Mayfair Lakes Golf and Country Club in Richmond, where 140 golfers and over 50 sponsor participants raised nearly $17,000 for MineralsEd and over $1,800 for the Greater Vancouver Food Bank. The Golf Committee was chaired by Gary Giroux.
- The annual Open House on November 29 as well as an industry leaders' networking and policy recommendations development session on December 11.
- Two inter-committee meetings held in June and October 2013 to connect volunteers from all AME BC committees.

Many of the Association's ongoing initiatives are designed to facilitate ongoing communication between members and awareness of AME BC activities. These include the monthly AME BC News e-newsletter and quarterly Mineral Exploration magazine and President & CEO Message. Editorial content for the magazine is determined by a volunteer Editorial Board, chaired by Grant Longhurst.

AME BC also continued to improve communication with members and between members through issue-based, focus group discussions and presenting at regional exploration and technical conferences and local and provincial government meetings.

MINERAL EXPLORATION ROUNDUP

Key Goal: To sustain the success of Roundup as AME BC's flagship mineral exploration conference.

Mineral Exploration Roundup is AME BC's signature outreach event and primary source of revenue. The conference is recognized by members and the industry for both technical and educational content, as well as the networking opportunities it provides. The Roundup Organizing Committee was chaired by Victoria Yehl.

Highlights of Mineral Exploration Roundup 2013 included the following:

- Achieving 2nd highest attendance record ever of 7,873 attendees from 44 countries.
- A record $680 million in mineral exploration investment in 2012 British Columbia, announced by BC Premier Christy Clark.
- Hosting a successful inaugural Gathering Place Aboriginal Pavilion that showcased successful agreements between First Nations in British Columbia with mineral exploration or mining companies.
- Hosting special forums at Roundup 2013 that included the 4th annual Policy Forum, 2nd annual Aboriginal Engagement Forum, 4th annual Industry-Government Forum and 2nd annual Human Resource Forum.
- Profiling and celebrating the government's annual proclamation of Mineral Exploration Week during Roundup 2013 and showcasing BC as the world's largest mineral exploration and development business cluster.
- Keynote Speakers including Robert Gallagher, President and Chief Executive Officer, New Gold; Ronald Thiessen, Chief Executive Officer, Hunter Dickinson Inc.; Don Lindsay, President & Chief Executive Officer, Teck Resources Limited; Denis Gourde, Corporate Director, Regulatory and External Affairs, Agnico-Eagle Mines; and Pierre Lassonde, Chairman, Franco-Nevada.

As in previous years, the Core Shack, Field Trips, Map Tent, Poster Session, Prospectors' Tent, Technical Sessions and special events were well attended. The Awards Night honoured recipients in the mineral exploration and development community. AME BC members are encouraged to nominate their peers for these prestigious awards; the Awards Committee reviews these nominations and brings candidates forward to the Board for approval. This year's award recipients are profiled on pages 16 to 21.

At the time of writing, final preparations for Mineral Exploration Roundup 2014 – Resources for Life at The Westin Bayshore, Vancouver, were underway. The Roundup Transition Venue Committee, chaired by Kendra Johnston, was also involved in preliminary planning for Mineral Exploration Roundup 2015 at the conference's new venue, at the Vancouver Convention Centre, under the sails at Canada Place.

The volunteer-based committees of AME BC are the driving force and expertise behind the Association's advocacy work. They are key contributors to its overall success. Committees address the broad range of issues within the mineral exploration and development sector. Without them, and their considerable efforts, AME BC would not be the dynamic organization that it is today.

Numerous individuals volunteer their valuable time to participate as Board of Directors, Committee Chairs, Vice Chairs, and committee members. Many of these people have provided their volunteer service for numerous years. All committees receive the support of AME BC staff to implement the recommendations of our committees and Board directives.

We thank all those who have participated, and continue to participate, on AME BC committees. Your efforts and sage advice have directly contributed to the overall success of the Association.

The following people served on AME BC committees during the period from February 2013 to January 2014. For a current list of committees and their membership, visit <http://www.amebc.ca/about-us/committees>.

AWARDS

Each year at Mineral Exploration Roundup, AME BC recognizes select individuals or teams of individuals for their outstanding achievements and contributions to the mineral exploration and development industry in BC and globally through its annual awards program, which is overseen by the Awards Committee.

Nominations are solicited from both AME BC members and members of associated mineral exploration and mining organizations. The deadline for submitting nominations each year is September 30. All nomination letters of unsuccessful candidates remain on file to be reconsidered for three years after the original submission date. After nominations are submitted, the committee adjudicates them. The awards are presented at Roundup in January of the following year. To ensure the integrity of the awards, they are presented only if deserving nominees are identified.

TREASURER'S REPORT ON BEHALF OF THE FINANCE AND AUDIT COMMITTEE

Members of AME BC's Finance and Audit Committee review, on behalf of the Board of Directors, the preparation of the annual operating budget and the quarterly and annual financial statements, as well as our returns on investment assets and other related matters.

Our financial results for the fiscal year reflected an operating surplus of $45,000 compared to a surplus of $226,000 in 2012. Our unrestricted General Fund ended the year with a balance of over $563,000 while the Contingency Reserve Fund ('CRF') remains at $2.7 million. For the past several years we have actually budgeted for current operating deficits, funded by utilizing the opening balance of the General Fund. In fiscal 2013, as in 2012, a substantial element of the current surplus can be considered to have arisen from the better-than-budgeted performance of our investment portfolio with Connor, Clark and Lunn Private Capital ('CC&L'). As in previous years our operating budget for fiscal 2014 envisions a potential draw-down of all of the balance of the General Fund; however, no further expenditures of the CRF are planned at this time.

This year I thought I'd refresh (or enlighten) readers on the history of our investment 'nest-egg', and review its performance and use over the past 10 years or so. The CC&L portfolio is managed on a discretionary basis subject to a Statement of Investment Policy ('SIP') previously approved by the Board. That SIP calls for an approximate 50/50 weighting of income and equity investments. The investments are comprised of units in various pooled funds which do not trade publicly; however, the fund assets themselves are highly liquid and are marked to market on an ongoing basis. Our entire portfolio is therefore completely liquid and redeemable by AME BC on demand. The proceeds to establish the portfolio substantially arose upon the sale of AME BC's former premises on Hastings Street in August 2003 for gross proceeds of $1.75 million. AME BC had owned that building with clear title.

The portfolio was subsequently initiated in March 2004 with an original investment of just over $2.0 million, subsequent contributions during 2005 and 2006 aggregated $550,000 and at August 31, 2013 it has a current value of $3.042 million. As the CC&L portfolio is typically fully invested (albeit in generally conservative underlying investments), we at all times also hold significant cash-equivalent instruments outside the portfolio. Since early 2011 AME BC has withdrawn an aggregate of $750,000 in cash for the purpose of providing current working capital for operations. This amount has, at least initially, been transferred to such near-cash instruments. The overall annualized return on our CC&L portfolio from inception to August 31, 2013 has been approximately 4.6%. This figure is inclusive of the effects of the 2008-2009 'financial crisis', which resulted in significant (though largely unrealized) losses during that period.

Overall I think the portfolio has served a useful purpose and remains a valuable asset for us as a buffer of sorts against industry downturns such as we find ourselves in currently. A long-term perspective remains essential to its management and evaluation; in this respect, I believe that for the time being the use of independent and professional investment management is still a good idea. However, ultimately it's the members of AME BC, through the directors they elect and the provisions of our Bylaws, who should and must determine the best use of this capital. Management's obligation is to be transparent in respect to its stewardship of these, and all, assets of AME BC, as so directed by the board.

Our financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles and reflect, in certain areas, management's best estimates based on information currently available. AME BC has developed and is maintaining a system of internal controls designed to provide reasonable assurance that its assets are safeguarded, transactions are authorized, and financial information is reliable.

The following summary annual financial statements have been prepared by, and are the responsibility of, myself in consultation with our senior management. They faithfully reflect and represent what we believe to be the most relevant elements of the full version of the audited financial statements, which are, as always, the responsibility of both the Board and myself. Our external auditors are PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, and their report which follows outlines the scope of their examination and unmodified opinion on these summary financial statements

REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR ON THE SUMMARY FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

To the Members of the Association for Mineral Exploration British Columbia ("AME BC")

The accompanying Summary Financial Statements, which comprise the Summary Statement of Financial Position as at August 31, 2013 and the Summary Statement of Revenue and Expenditures for the year then ended, are derived from the audited Financial Statements of AME BC for the year ended August 31, 2013. We expressed an unmodified audit opinion on those Financial Statements in our report dated November 19, 2013. Those Financial Statements, and the Summary Financial Statements, do not reflect the effects of events that occurred subsequent to the date of our report on those Financial Statements.

The Summary Financial Statements do not contain all the disclosures required by Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations ("ASNPO") as included in Part III of the CICA Handbook. Reading the Summary Financial Statements, therefore, is not a substitute for reading the audited Financial Statements of AME BC.

Management's responsibility for the Summary Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of a summary of the audited Financial Statements in accordance with the basis of preparation disclosed in the Summary Financial Statements.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Summary Financial Statements based on our procedures, which were conducted in accordance with Canadian Auditing Standards (CAS) 810, 'Engagements to Report on Summary Financial Statements'.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Summary Financial Statements derived from the audited Financial Statements of AME BC for the year ended August 31, 2013 are a fair summary of those Financial Statements, in accordance with the criteria described in the basis of preparation.
